San Jose does a great job with green paint to highlight bike lanes. Since these projects on Newhall and Monroe have a complete streets element, I hope that the City will use green paint liberally to highlight bike lanes like San Jose does.

$835,358 from the general fund to support this seems like a lot of money to me. Has there been any consideration or analysis of charging for parking in the convention center lots? This may be a source of revenue and would also discourage people from driving thus helping with the City's climate goals.

The total cost of maintaining Franklin Square is $ 155,571.00. The owners of property at Franklin Square are contributing only $14,200.00 meaning the rest is coming from the general fund. The assessment on property owners is only between 15 and 30 cents per square foot PER YEAR. That seems to be an overly subsidized rate. Santa Clara budgets were running a deficit before COVID and now cost recovery and balancing budgets is ever more critical.

Check this Alta Design URL, <https://tinyurl.com/wngo2n6>, and scroll down to the 2nd picture, above "User Centered Sidewalk Design." Isn't this the horrible design deployed on a few San Jose city streets that has everyone (pedestrians, bicyclists, car-drivers) incensed and worried about accidents? Also, why is BPAC being favored (3 special meetings in addition to 2 other meetings) over the vast majority of Pruneridge users who are automobile drivers? If passed, prepare for protests.
